PORTUGAL<sup>1</sup>

Located at the extreme southwest of Europe, Portugal is constituted by the continental territory and two Autonomous Regions, the archipelagos of Madeira and Azores (Açores). The Continent is divided into 18 districts. Portugal's total area is 92.152 Km<sup>2</sup> and there are around 10 million inhabitants. The Portuguese Republic borders Spain North and East and has an extensive maritime coastline South and West that bathes the Atlantic Ocean. The country's capital is Lisbon and the official language is Portuguese.

CURRENCY

Since January 2002 the Euro has replaced the Escudo as the national currency.

RELIGION

Although Portugal is a laic country, most Portuguese citizens are Roman Catholics and most holidays have a religious character.

CLIMATE

Mainland Portugal is blessed with both an Atlantic and Mediterranean climate, providing mild year-round weather with no excessive variations of temperature (usually between 10° C in winter and 30° C in summer).

TIME ZONE

Continental Portugal and the Madeira archipelago adhere to the Greenwich Mean Time (GMT). In the Azores archipelago it is one hour earlier than in the rest of Portugal and Madeira. From October to March, Portugal (continent & islands) uses the daylight saving time.

COST OF LIVING

In order to afford the monthly expenses, students and researchers should have at least 250€ for food, 150€ for accommodation in a university hall of residence and between 170€ and 250€ for a room in private accommodation. Moreover, students and researchers should consider the cost of books, copies, etc.

PORTUGUESE SYSTEM OF HIGHER EDUCATION<sup>2</sup>

The Portuguese Higher Education system, a state-run educational establishment, is divided into two sub-systems, university and polytechnic education.

The network of public Higher Education comprises 15 Universities, 24 Polytechnic Institutes and 5 institutions of military and police education.

The network of private Higher Education includes 32 Universities and 36 Polytechnic Institutes.

APPLICATION

To apply for Higher Education courses via the national system, students must go through a competitive process with access being regulated by the numerus clausus system. Higher Education provides the following academic qualifications: First-degree (licenciado), Master's degree (mestre) and PhD (doutor). University and Polytechnic Institutions confer First-degrees and Master's degrees, while Universities also award PhD.

In Polytechnics, a "licenciado" degree normally involves six semesters, which corresponds to 180 credits. In Universities a "licenciado" degree normally lasts from six to eight semesters, which corresponds to 180 or 240 credits (in that case it is then called Mestrado Integrado). The study cycle that leads to a master degree lasts between three and four semesters, both in Universities and Polytechnics, corresponding to 90 or 120 credits.

Fees are set by the different Higher Education institutions, being their amount defined between a minimum and a maximum, depending on the type of the course.

The Portuguese Higher Education system is currently undergoing a profound reform. This objective is part of a European-wide strategy for the modernization of Higher Education Institutions promoting the knowledge-based economy and society. A series of measures have been introduced in the last years for the accomplishment of the Bologna Process in order to: widen access to Higher Education, particularly new audiences; guarantee quality evaluation; modernize and internationalize Higher Education Institutions.

In the academic year 2008/2009, about 98% of the initial training courses that have opened vacancies were already organized according to the principles of the Bologna Process, including public and private Higher Education (90% in 2007/2008).

ASSESSMENT

Assessment can be either continuous or final, depending on the course, the module taken and individual choice. In a continuous assessment scheme, students will have to submit one or two essays, prepare a presentation or do a written test. Final examinations are usually written even though oral exams are also possible.

GRADING SYSTEM

The Portuguese grading system is ranked on a scale of 0 to 20. In order to pass a subject, you must achieve a minimum score of 10:

0- 9 insufficient ;

10-13 sufficient ;

14-15 good - To pass a curricular unit, the Student must obtain a grade superior or equal to E according to the following conversion table valid for the ARCHMAT Consortium Partner Institutions:

ECTS	UE	AUTH	UNIROMA1
A	18-20	9.5-10	30/30-30 E LODE
B	16-17	7-9	27/30-29/30

THE UNIVERSITY OF ÉVORA

RECTOR'S MESSAGE

Since its foundation the University of Évora was recognized as an important European center of knowledge concentration; a school sought by an influx of various horizons, which found here the conditions for the study of different fields and exercise their ability to expose and counter arguments.

With our eyes on the future, we pride ourselves on our past.

In the twentieth and twentieth first centuries, after its refounding by Veiga Simão, the University of Évora is still recognized as an important center of knowledge; as part of our mission we seek knowledge and spread knowledge, Evora University is, in fact, concerned about the knowledge socialization without losing the vision of networking with different partners around the world in order to be able to enhance the knowledge either produced or transferred.

Evora University offers undergraduate, master and PhD courses but also informal courses to ensure lifelong learning at all levels of society.

Having been submitted to international evaluation, Évora University today is an integral part of the European Network for Higher Education and Science and all qualifications are recognized and validated.

With the arts, humanities, sciences and technologies, we continued the journey from the past to the future!"

The Rector, Professor Ana Maria Costa Freitas

BEFORE ARRIVAL

THE SCHENGEN AREA AND COOPERATION<sup>3</sup>

The Schengen area and cooperation are founded on the Schengen Agreement of 1985. The Schengen area represents a territory where the free movement of persons is guaranteed. The signatory states to the agreement have abolished all internal borders in lieu of a single external border. Here common rules and procedures are applied with regard to visas for short stays, asylum requests and border controls. Simultaneously, to guarantee security within the Schengen area, cooperation and coordination between police services and judicial authorities have been stepped up. Schengen cooperation has been incorporated into the European Union (EU) legal framework by the Treaty of Amsterdam of 1997. However, all countries cooperating in Schengen are not parties to the Schengen area. This is either because they do not wish to eliminate border controls or because they do not yet fulfill the required conditions for the application of the Schengen ACQUIS

If the student or the researcher is going to stay at the residence, s/he must bring only personal belongings.

PRIVATE ACCOMMODATION

As the number of vacancies in the halls of residence is limited, it is possible to rent a room in a family house or a furnished flat/house and share it with other students and researchers. Prices vary according to the number of rooms, location and other renting conditions.

Searching for this kind of accommodation is students and researchers' responsibility. In order to facilitate it, the Students' Association can help to find a suitable accommodation if requested. To rent your own room or flat you can also check on the internet on the following places:

- ❖ <http://www.bquarto.pt/>
- ❖ SCOUT Project for accommodation: <http://www.internacional.cne-escutismo.pt/TrilhoEuropeu/Escout/tabid/2341/Default.aspx>
- ❖ Erasmus Student Network – <http://www.esn.aaue.pt>
- ❖ Pin-walls inside university buildings or supermarkets
- ❖ Local newspapers (Registo and Diário do Sul)

TEMPORARY ACCOMMODATION

AFTER ARRIVAL

RESIDENCE CONDITIONS<sup>10</sup>

All foreigners (both EU and Third Country citizens) planning to stay in Portugal for longer than 90 days must apply for a residence permit (autorização de residência) upon arrival in Portugal. Applications must be submitted at the nearest Foreigners' Department (Serviço de Estrangeiros e Fronteiras/SEF) of the Portuguese Ministry of Internal Affairs (there are offices in most major cities including Évora).

For third-country nationals, the required documents are similar to the ones required for visa applications:

- ❖ Passport or other travelling document;
- ❖ Valid Visa (where applicable);
- ❖ Two passport size photos;
- ❖ Criminal register;
- ❖ Health insurance certificate;
- ❖ Lodging certificate in Portugal;
- ❖ Proof of funds in Portugal, upon arrival;
- ❖ Academic registration document ;
- ❖ Vaccines bulletin;

EU students and researchers/academics only have to present a valid identity card/passport and a proof of academic registration.

WHAT TO DO IF YOUR VISA EXPIRES BEFORE YOU LEAVE THE COUNTRY?

Call SEF-Serviço de Estrangeiros e Fronteiras (808 202 653) and schedule an interview to renew your visa. Due to the high number of queries, your call is more likely to be taken early in the morning (8am) or late in the evening (7pm).

After you schedule your interview (probably in a month's time) you will need to gather the documents they ask you to renew your visa (See: Residence Conditions).

After you gather all these documents you go to SEF, wait patiently and pay. Then you receive a receipt that you MUST keep, for this will be the only proof that you have renewed your visa. Give one to two months for your visa card to be finally ready.

HOW TO OBTAIN A LODGING CERTIFICATE

If you live at a University Residence, this information will be included in the invitation letter from the university.

If you don't live at a University Residence: you will need to go to Junta de Freguesia (which is a kind of city hall of each neighborhood) and ask for a "comprovativo de morada" (address confirmation). That might be a little complicated given that at Junta de Freguesia they will ask for two witnesses to confirm that you really live wherever you say you live. It's certainly a good way to practice your Portuguese! If you have received any commercial letters, i.e. bank, newsletters, at your address, it should work as well.

HOW TO OBTAIN A CRIMINAL REGISTER

You can get this document from the Police Office at Loja do Cidadão (Based on the concept of One Stop Shop, the Loja do Cidadão (literally, Citizen Shop) is a public service aiming at providing a multitude of citizens-oriented services (such as social security, health, immigration, etc.) within a same location). You can find this Citizen Shop in Lisbon.

HEALTH<sup>11</sup>

Under EU legislation on Social Security, nationals from the 27 EU member states, Iceland, Liechtenstein, Norway and Switzerland enjoy the same benefits as Portuguese citizens in terms of access to free or reduced-cost healthcare. In order to benefit from these services, the citizens falling in the category mentioned above need to show the EHIC (European Health Insurance Card).

Third Country citizens must hold medical insurance or benefit from other special medical coverage/arrangements for the entire stay in Portugal.

Third Country citizens, who have been residing in Portugal for more than 3 months (90 days), may wish to apply for the National Health Service Card (Cartão do Utente do Serviço Nacional de Saúde). The card is free of charge and gives you access to Portuguese Public Health Service. The card can be obtained in local Health Centres (Centros de Saúde) or in any Loja do Cidadão, upon presentation of residence permit.

ERASMUS MUNDUS Scholarship holders automatically receive free medical insurance coverage at no extra cost. The insurance is valid for the entire period of the student's/scholar's enrolment in the Erasmus Mundus Programme.

FOREIGNERS CAN ACCESS HEALTH CARE IN PORTUGAL?

Order No. 25360/2001 guarantees foreign citizens legally residing in Portugal the same rights and duties of national beneficiaries access to health care and drug service within the National Health Service.

Foreign countries with whom Portugal has signed bilateral agreements on a reciprocal basis have access to health care in Portugal as regulated by the Law on Health - Law No. 48/90, Base XXV - under its agreement.

Foreign citizens of other countries or who live in Portugal but have not yet legalized their situation may resort to consulting the health center's area of residence taking with them the passport.
